ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a method of preventing or treating motion sickness by orally or topically administering a halogenated pheniramine.